Some people think that sports and games are not important things to do; they prefer going to the cinema, listening to the radio, or sleeping. But sports and games should not be considered just an amusement; they are very necessary, specially for those who work with their brains.

Sports and games make our bodies strong, prevent us from getting too fat, and keep us healthy. But these are not their only uses: they are very useful for character training. In their lessons at school, boys and girls learn about the usefulness of working together, discipline, and love of one’s country, but what is learned in books cannot have the same deep effect on a child’s character as what is learned by experience. A student, who learns to work for his team and not for himself on a football field, will find it natural to work for the good of his country instead of only for his own advantage.
