Part C: Reading Comprehension

Gary Smith yesterday celebrated his 18th birthday, and he's so happy to be alive. In March this year, he was climbing Ben Nevis, Britain's highest mountain, when he lost his way and spent three days in freezing air. "My friends laughed at me for having so much equipment, but it saved my life."

On the first night, the weather was so bad that he moved into a nearby house for the night. He left the house at 10 the next morning, but he was soon in trouble. "I fell off a rock and hurt my knees. I couldn't move." Mountain rescue teams went out to look for Gary, and found him at 1 in the morning. A helicopter took him to hospital, where he had several operations.

"Next time I'll go with my friends, not on my own!", he said.

13- Gary Smith spent three days in freezing air because he

- 1) couldn't find the right way in the mountain
- 2) left the house too early in the morning
- 3) lost his equipment on the way
- 4) wanted to celebrate his 18th birthday

14- If it were not for his, he would be dead now.

- 1) operations
- 2) knees
- 3) equipment
- 4) friends

15- On the second day, Gary could not go further anymore because

- 1) he had chosen the highest mountain
- 2) he had been physically injured
- 3) the weather was terribly cold
- 4) the rescue teams took him to the hospital
