Today, there are two thousand families living in the village of Kodinhi in southern India. Among them, there are more than 300 sets of twins, which is six times the global average. What makes this even more unusual is that India has one of the lowest birth of twins in the world.

Nobody can explain the reason why the village has so many twins. Some people say the cause might be genetic, but local doctor, Dr. Sirbiju, doesn't think so. He says that there haven't always been twins in Kodinhi ‗ parents suddenly started having them about sixty or seventy years ago. Neither does he believe that a new kind of pollution has caused the twins to be born. In that case, he argues, there would be more twins with birth defects. Luckily, most of Kodinhi's twins are born healthy.

Dr. Sirbiju thinks that the twins are born because of something the villagers eat and drink. He wants to discover just what that is, so that he can use it to help the people who can't have children.
