

Did you know you can learn how to make instant ice in 5 seconds? Yeah! It's true! There is such a thing as instant ice.

You need these supplies to make an instant ice tower:

Jar, Ice cubes, bottle, plate

At first, put a bottle in the fridge for one to three hours.

When the bottle becomes cool, hit the bottle. If it stays liquid, your water isn't cold enough. When the water is ready, you can do the experiment

Put your ice cubes inside your jar. Carry the bottle carefully and open the bottle gently. Then pour the water onto the ice cubes.

Watch as an ice tower forms before your eyes!
