

BBC LEARNING ENGLISH

Real Easy English worksheet

Spicy food

1. Match the questions with the replies.

Questions

- a) Do you like spicy food?
- b) Did you like spicy food when you were younger?
- c) What's the spiciest meal you've eaten?
- d) Do you cook spicy food at home?

Replies

- 1) No, I didn't. I hated spicy food when I was younger.
- 2) The spiciest meal I've eaten was some noodles when I was in Thailand.
- 3) I love spicy food. It's delicious.
- 4) Yes. I use a lot of chillies when I cook food at home.

2. Complete the gaps using the pictures to help. (Images: Getty)

- a. My daughter loves h__ food. The spicier the better!

- b. I can't eat any more of that spicy soup. My m____ is on f____!

- c. Careful! I put lots of chillies in this so it h__ a k____.

BBC LEARNING ENGLISH

Real Easy English worksheet

Spicy food

3. Now answer the questions. You can use the replies in question 1 to help you.

Example:

Do you like spicy food?

I love spicy food. It's delicious.

- a) Do you like spicy food?
- b) Did you like spicy food when you were younger?
- c) What's the spiciest meal you've eaten?
- d) Do you cook spicy food at home?

Make notes here. Then practise saying your answers out loud.

⇒ Useful vocabulary: spicy, hot, has a kick, mouth is on fire, cool down

BBC LEARNING ENGLISH

Real Easy English worksheet

Spicy food

Answers

1.

a3, b1, c2, d4

2.

a. hot, b. mouth / fire, c. has / kick

Are you a teacher? Here are some extension activities:

- Role-play an interviewer and interviewee.
- Students discuss the topic with a partner. Then swap partners to report what the previous partner said.
- Get students to write a short paragraph on the topic.