Continents are very large areas of land. Most geographers say that there are seven continents:

- 1 North America
- 2 South America
- 3 Europe
- 4 Africa
- 5 Asia
- 6 Australasia
- 7 Antarctica

Asia is the largest continent. It's got an area of about 44 million square kilometres. Australasia is the smallest, with an area of about 8.6 million square kilometres. The coldest continent is Antarctica. It's also the driest and the windiest!

Oceans are large bodies of salt water. Most geographers say that there are four oceans:

the Pacific, the Atlantic, the Arctic and the Indian. The Pacific Ocean is the largest. It's got an area of 165 five million square kilometres. That's bigger than all the continents together! The Arctic Ocean is the smallest, with an area of 10 million square kilometres.

Think about it

Some geographers say Europe and Asia are one continent, called Eurasia. Some geographers say the Americas are also one continent.

Some geographers say that there is a fifth ocean around Antarctica. They call it the Southern Ocean.

23 Read the sentences. Then answer True, False or I don't know.

- 1 All geographers say there are seven continents.
- 2 Asia is the largest and the highest continent.
- 3 Europe is a smaller continent than Australasia.
- 4 The Atlantic Ocean is bigger than the Arctic Ocean.
- 5 The Indian Ocean is larger than the Arctic Ocean.

Now find the answers from the text.

- What are the large bodies of water called?
- What are the 7 continents?
- What are the smallest and largest oceans?
- What is the name of the fifth ocean around Antarctica?
- How big is the Pacific ocean?
