

Pancakes

Sails

Written by Jo Windsor
Illustrated by Clive Taylor

Nell loves to cook.
She is the greatest cook
in the world.

"Come to breakfast, Pete," she called.

"We will have pancakes.
I'll show you how to make them."

This is what you do...

Nell and Pete
ate the pancakes.
“Yum,” they said.
“Pancakes are good to eat.
We like pancakes.”

Uncle Tom came in.
"Ah!" he said.
"Pancakes for breakfast.
I'll make pancakes, too.
I like pancakes.
They are good to eat."

When I make my pancakes,
I flip them.
This is what you do...

Dad came in.
"Oh good," he said.
"Pancakes for breakfast.
Pancakes are good to eat."

Dad tossed the pancake.
The pancake went up, up, up.
"My pancake!" shouted Dad.
"Where is my pancake?"
He looked up.

"Oh dear!" said Dad.
"Look at my pancake!"
And then,
down came the pancake
on top of Dad's head.

"Oh well," said Dad.
"Birds love pancakes."
And he tossed the pancake out.

