

Differences in Society

People don't always get along in society. Sometimes people forget that it is other people's differences that make them unique and special.

Identity and Race

What makes you who you are? Is it your interests and hobbies?
Your talents? Is it your beliefs or appearance?

Everyone has an identity that is dependent on many factors.
Race is one of those factors.

A race is a grouping of people who share some of the same physical features (such as skin color, hair texture, and facial features) and non-physical features (such as culture, history, religious beliefs, and language).

What Is Equality?

Equality is when people are treated fairly and given the same opportunities. Everyone around the world should be treated fairly, no matter where they live, where they are from, the color of their skin, the language they speak, or their accent.

What Is Racial Discrimination?

Discrimination is when a person, or a group of people, is treated unfairly because of their gender, religion, disability, nationality, appearance, or any factor when compared to other people.

Racial discrimination is when people are treated unfairly because of their race.

Can you think of an occasion when people have been treated unfairly because of their race?

Everyone has a right to live happily and to be free from discrimination.

The opposite of equality is discrimination.

It means treating everyone as individuals and with respect and consideration. It is about acknowledging and appreciating diversity and difference.

How are you similar?

Think about your best friend.

We Are All Unique

Equality is about all people having the same opportunities and the same rights, regardless of what they look like or where they come from.
