

Once upon a time, on a cold and snowy day, two men decided to drive up the mountain in their car. The weather was so cold and the road was so slippery that the men grew tired and weary from the difficult journey.

As they drove higher and higher, they caught a glimpse of something out of the corner of their eyes. They both looked at each other, trembling with fear. It was a big head poking out of the snow! The men were scared and didn't know what to do.

As they got closer, they realized that it wasn't just any head - it was the head of a monster! The creature let out a loud roar, sending shivers down their spines. They knew they had stumbled upon the infamous monster that lurked in the mountains.

The men were very scared and decided to run away. They left their car and ran as fast as they could. The monster followed them but they were able to escape and get back to safety. They promised each other to never go back to that mountain again. And they lived happily ever after.
