The girl with a Pearl Earring depicts a young woman in a dark space. She wears a blue and gold turban, the pearl earring, and a gold jacket with a white collar. It was painted by Dutch artist Johannes Vermeer.

A close-up, high-resolution view of a painting depicting a woman's face. The skin is rendered with a prominent, cracked, and aged texture, characteristic of old oil or tempera paint. Her eyes are dark and looking slightly to the right. Her lips are painted a vibrant red. The background is dark and indistinct. A semi-transparent dark brown box with a thin orange border is overlaid across the center of the image, containing white text.

Some people believe that the girl in the painting is imaginary, whereas others believe that it is a real person. It is also said that she could be Vermeer's own daughter, Maria Vermeer.
