► Nasir al-Mulk mosque

In 1876, Mirza Hassan Ali Khan, also known as Nasir-Ol Molkthe (ruler of Fars), decided to build a mosque as a memory of himself for the next generations. The designers of the mosque were Mohammad Hasan-e-Memar, an Iranian architect, and Mohammad Reza Kashi-Saz-e-Širazi. It was completed after 12 years in 1888. But it didn't have any colored glasses at that time. They were added years later by Haj Mirza Ayat.
