Charity shops

Charity shops are a type of social shop that sells second-hand clothes and things donated by people. The people who work in these shops are volunteers. Everything in these shops is obtained for free. For this reason, shops can sell at very low prices. Charity shops sell a lot of things: clothes, books, music, shoes, and many other things, too.

In my opinion, the things sold in charity shops are safe, and less expensive!

I think reusing second-hand clothes is a form of recycling. It can help protect our environment!

I believe it's an excellent way to buy shoes, clothes and anything at a bargain price!
